Two Hit Parades!

Deputies with the Newport News Sheriff's Office Participate in Southeast Community Day and Denbigh Day

Deputies with the Newport News Sheriff's Office (NNSO) continue to play a major role in back-to-back parades and festivals on back-to-back weekends.

On Saturday, September 9, Southeast Newport News came alive with the annual Southeast Community Day event. A parade, led by Sheriff Gabe Morgan and the NNSO Color Guard, wound its way through the city streets. Residents crowded almost every inch of curb space to enjoy marching bands and floats. The Sheriff's Office not only participated in the parade, but its deputies also were in charge of traffic control as well as security at the festival grounds.

More than 30 deputy sheriffs volunteered their time to make the event a success.

The very next weekend was the 47th Annual Denbigh Day. Again, tens of deputies volunteered their time to this event held on Saturday, September 16. The NNSO is proud to play a major role in the community event and promises its commitment to the Denbigh Lion's Club. Much like Southeast Community Day, deputies provided traffic control for the parade, participated in the parade with its color guard leading the way, and provided security at the Denbigh Day festival grounds.
